

Papingo Rock Pools

39.9737519, 20.7256355

Between Megalo and Mikro Papigo, you will see an enchanting landscape that captivates with its natural beauty.

The Ovires Rogovou are the natural swimming pools of Zagori that were formed due to soil erosion by the Rogovou stream. At an altitude of 980 meters, wild eroded rocks embrace small ponds that collect crystal clear water inside them, while small waterfalls between the hollows complete the landscape.

The dense forest of oaks, beeches, lindens and maples, as well as the rare flora found under the trees and on the rocks, invite you to a walk of exploration, while if you are lucky you will observe different species of birds that live in the forest.

During the winter, the waters freeze and present a beautiful sight to the visitor, while in the summer, the natural swimming pools are ideal for refreshing dips in the forest.
