

Pountazeza

37.6811695, 24.0636311

Punta Zeza is a perfect beach, with a perfect sea and a classic beach bar, one of those transportable ones that have everything.

The beach has a crescent-shaped sandbank. It has tamarisk trees and trees at the back towards the "parking lot"/road, umbrellas and sunbeds in the background, towards Sounio.

The sea is shallow for several meters from the beach, and because Panormos (where Punta Zeza is located) is an enclosed bay, it does not have big waves even when it is windy.

In other words, it is offered for families with small children since it simply exists.

Lavrio is located 60 kilometers from Athens.

When you lie on your (free) sunbed or mat in Punta Zeza and gaze at the sea, you are sure that you are on an Aegean island. Very blue, with blue sky, white houses climbing the hillside to your left, red rocks to your right.
