It is located at the mouth of the bay of Almyropotamos, a beautiful, deep fjord with varied shores, which is decorated at its entrance with the uninhabited islet of Kavalliani. Inside, the waters are blue–green and crystal clear; outside, the sand is golden.

The beach is long and very wide (more than 80 acres), with a small marina and a beach bar that rents a few umbrellas and sunbeds. At its back, tamarinds and eucalyptus provide thick shade. In the same direction is also the beach of Galazia Limni, with very calm waters (that's where its name comes from) in an impressive green color.
