

Kallianos beach

Pelagic, secluded beach at the end of an easy downhill highway just below the village of Kallianos, at the exit of the Dimosari gorge. Crystalline waters, which deepen sharply, sand and coarse white pebbles.

The landscape becomes magnificent because of the river that flows here, pouring its cool, clear waters into the sea. There are no umbrellas and sunbeds, but in the summer you will see many tents. A sense of freedom and, in general, a situation for few – especially when the meltemi blows.
